

BtL International Toll Free

Overview

International Free Phone (Toll Free) numbers, enable your business to have a presence in over 76 countries worldwide. For example, your company is based in London, but advertises for business in the USA. BtL supply an 1800 number that connects to your phone system in the UK. The customer gets a free call, and your company pays the cost of the call.

How international toll free numbers work

When your customer (in the USA) phones your international toll free number the call is automatically redirected to the phone number you have given us. You can change this "destination" number as often as you want. So even if you move office or you simply want the calls redirected to another phone for a short period, your international Free Phone number stays the same.

No extra lines or equipment to buy

When you buy a BtL International Toll Free number, there is no requirement for extra phone lines or any equipment. We simply divert the incoming calls to an existing number of your choice. Your phone will continue to receive calls on its original number as usual as well as the incoming toll free calls, and can be used to make outgoing calls as normal.

Benefits

International Toll Free improves your competitive market edge by increasing your ability to sell products and services across borders and regions. Providing free, international communications to your customers and prospective customers, can build loyalty by demonstrating how valuable your clients and suppliers are to your business. International Toll Free services can provide the capability to serve customers more effectively, while differentiating your business from the competition. International Toll Free can also help reduce your administrative costs and improve internal communications by making international calls between employees easier and eliminating the need for expense reimbursement.
